

HOLY NAME PARADE

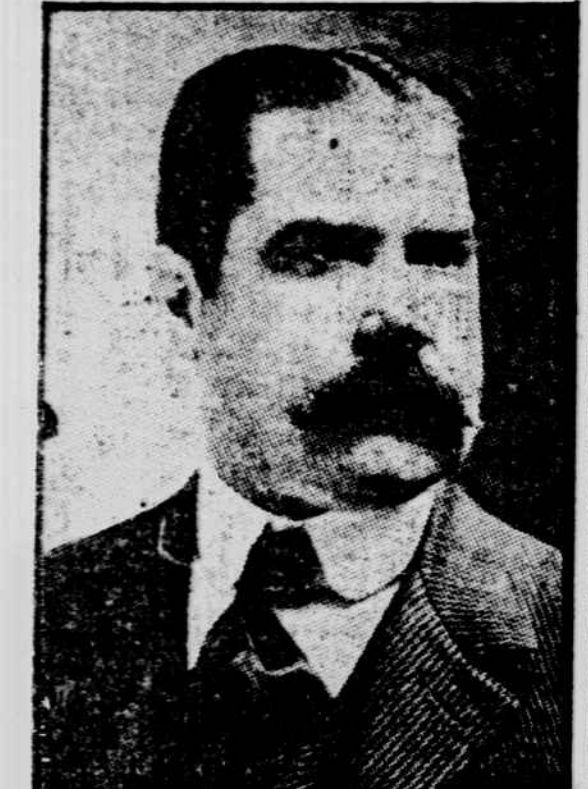

Thousands Expected to Participate Here Next Sunday.

HALTIGAN CHIEF MARSHAL

Catholics to March From Capitol to Monument Grounds.

DIGNITARIES TO REVIEW MEN

Archbishop Bonzano, Bishop Corrigan and Others High in Clergy to Witness Demonstration.

COL. JEROME H. JOYCE, President, Union of the Holy Name Society of the Archdiocese of Baltimore.

The Holy Name societies in the various Catholic parishes of Washington, Baltimore, Frederick, Cumberland and Alexandria, Va., are actively preparing for the annual parade of the Holy Name organization of the archdiocese of Baltimore in this city next Sunday. The first parade of the society occurred here November 6, 1910, when nearly 8,000 men marched through the streets to the mass meeting on the Washington Monument lot.

The demonstration next Sunday gives promise of a greater turnout, and it is expected that from 12,000 to 15,000 men and boys will march, according to Patrick J. Haltigan, who will be the chief marshal. His advice from many sections of Maryland, he says, indicate that in addition to the parades, thousands of their friends and families will come to Washington. From the city of Baltimore the largest delegation will come. St. John's parish of Baltimore, the chief marshal is advised, will send more than 1,000 men, under the leadership of Rev. Father Ripley, spiritual director of the Holy Name Society of that parish. About 6,000 men are expected from the Monumental city.

The various colored parishes in Baltimore will send about 500 representatives, who, with 800 paraders from St. Augustine's and St. Cyril's parishes of this city, will form a separate division of the parade, the place assigned to them in the line of march being between the Baltimore and Washington sections.

Many Bands Engaged.

Every band in Baltimore has been engaged and special trains of ten coaches each will be operated every three minutes between 12 and 1 o'clock next Sunday.

Col. Jerome H. Joyce of Baltimore is the president of the Archdiocese of Baltimore of the Holy Name Society. Col. Joyce will be given the place of honor at the head of the parade immediately following the chief marshal. The two diocesan vice presidents, Michael D. Schaeffer of the Washington section and Peter Boyle of St. Patrick's Church, Mt. Savage, of the western Maryland section, will also occupy places of honor at the head of the line.

Col. Joyce and other officers of the Diocesan Union will be attended by one hundred specially selected aids, headed by the band of the 5th Maryland Regiment of Baltimore.

Washington Division.

Heading the Washington division will be St. Mary's parish of Alexandria, Va., 200 strong, with band. Following the Alexandria contingent will march St. Ann's Tenleytown; St. Peter's, Holy Name; St. Dominic's, Soldiers' Home, St. Stephens, St. Matthew's, Holy Comforter, St. Vincent de Paul, St. Joseph's, St. Martin's, St. Paul's, St. Mary's, St. Anthony's. Each of these parishes will have not less than 250 men and boys in line, while some of the larger ones will have as many as 500 paraders.

Every band in Washington has been engaged and each parish will be equipped with some distinguishing badge or with canes and banners.

The Baltimore contingent will be accompanied by many of the clergy, including Rt. Rev. Bishop Corrigan, Rev. Dennis M. McCormick, spiritual director of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society, and Rev. J. J. Ripley.

Heading the Frederick, Md., battalion will be Rev. W. J. Kane, spiritual director of St. John's of that city. Patrick J. Brady will be chief marshal of the Baltimore contingent, assisted by Martin F. Burke, marshal of the first division, and Frank M. Dunn, marshal of the second division.

The first battalion of paraders is expected to arrive at Union station promptly at 1 o'clock. The men will be massed in marching column near the Union station, and will take their places in line on the east front of the Capitol, where the main body of the Washington pa-

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Miss Goodwin, I have something to say to you."

"Yes?"

"I hardly know how to say it."

She decided to help him a little.

"One need have no hesitancy," said she, "in speaking freely to one who feels toward you as I do."

"That's what I thought. Well, you have a little too much powder on your nose."

Brewery Case Hearing.

Among the cases on the docket for the October term of the corporation court is that of the commonwealth against the Arlington Brewing Company. This case will doubtless be called Monday and a date fixed for its hearing.

From a legal point of view this is an interesting case, inasmuch as it will determine whether or not the concern can deliver its products here by other than a common carrier, its products being manufactured out of the city.

A Wilson, Marshall and Carlin Club was organized last night at Potter's schoolhouse, Mount Vernon district, Fairfax county. The meeting was presided over by George K. Pickett, this city, who introduced Representative C.
